Wouldn't it be great if everything in this life could be Trimmed-to-Size? I'd start with my butt! Oh wait; my butt can be trimmed to size. I believe they call it liposuction and a professional does it so you don't end up with one cheek bigger or higher or rounder than the other. It comes with a fairly hefty price tag but it's not really something you want skimp on. I'm thinking a coupon for a butt lift would not be the best way to pick a doc.

So how great is it that Wallpaper for Windows now has a factory service that will Trim-to-Size. It's like having your own personal plastic surgeon to make sure that your designer window film is even, centered and finished off smoothly with no imperfections! After all, hasn't that always been the biggest hassle with home projects? We want to DO it ourselves, but we want it to look professionally DONE.

Now covering your windows can be a do-it-yourself project that actually gets done. Big windows, sliding glass doors or anything that requires you to work on your tiptoes, hands over head usually requires help. And that's why God invented husbands. Unfortunately, He gave them free will, ESPN and beer. It was all downhill from there. The fact is, the more complicated a project seems, the less likely it is to get done. That's just the law of weekends. Everyone knows it, and anyone who brags about his or her weekend of completed home improvements is lying!

Here's the deal. You measure your glass surface. It can be a window, a French door with multiple panes, or a sliding glass door. It doesn't matter; you just need the size of the glass. Check the website and decide what design you want to use and the size sheet you need to cover your glass (or decide what design you want to use and they will figure out what you need for you).

They do all the heavy lifting! Or in this case, the difficult cutting. It's $6.50 per sheet and it doesn't matter how many cuts they have to make. Are you getting that? $6.50 for a French-paned door that could have from 8 to 18 panes or more...and it's still $6.50.

NOTE TO FRENCH DOOR OWNERS: JUMP ON THIS BEFORE THE FACTORY DOES THE MATH!!!

The best part is, this service is done quickly. Unlike your husband, the factory workers are actually AT WORK, so they want to do it for you. They cut it, it is quickly delivered to your door and you have successfully replaced your husband for $6.50. And, do you know what tools you need to finish the job? A spray bottle with water. Seriously, that's the big "tool". Wallpaper For Windows provides a free smoothing tool with your order that makes installation a snap

This is what happens next, you step back, have a glass of ice tea and admire your work. Then go into your bathroom and look at your butt. Because when your husband finishes watching the game and sees that you've completed what looks like a complicated project, all by yourself (and for so few buckaroos) you'll be back on that pedestal where you belong. And once you're there, you can start negotiating for that "Trim to Size" butt job - no coupon required!
